

Andrea Trozzi, Partner

Andrea has over ten years experience in the credit markets. Andrea began his career at Lehman Brothers in the Debt Capital Markets division covering investment grade Italian and Spanish corporates. Following Lehman Brothers, Andrea received an MBA at the New York University Leonard N. Stern School of Business.

After his MBA, Andrea joined Goldman Sachs as an Associate in the European Special Situations Group, Goldman Sachs' proprietary investment team in the Fixed Income division where he worked as a buy-side credit analyst.

Major Recent Projects

- Financial adviser to the Informal Creditors Committee of Glitnir, an Icelandic bank with in excess of €15 billion of debt.
- Adviser to Straumur, an Icelandic Investment Bank with international operations in the UK and Denmark, on the restructuring of the group's €1.8 billion debt.
- Adviser to a UK and European hotels and conference and training venues group on the restructuring of the group's £400 million debt.
- Adviser to the private equity sponsor in the restructuring of Samsonite, the global luggage business.